

Cllr Geoff Southall asks "What about local democracy?"

Chris D. Kelly & Cllr Geoff Southall

Cllr Geoff Southall has represented Wordsley residents for over 4 years and is a member of the Development Control Committee (the local Planning Authority).

"Central Government has constantly undermined local democracy" says Geoff. "In spite of my and other fellow Conservative's concerns the Government Inspectorate, based in Bristol, have overridden decision taken by your local councillors."

"Look at what has happened in Lawnswood Road. Local residents opposed the construction of a telecommunication mast close to Belle Vue School."

"In spite of strong opposition by myself and local Councillors David Blood and Peter Miller, who, like me, perceive it as a possible health risk and a blight on the landscape of an attractive area, the Inspectorate overturned our decision - where is the local democracy in that decision?"

Support for flood victims
"It's too little, too late"
says Cllr Geoff Southall

Geoff, along with his colleagues Ena Blood and Harry Nottingham, are also disappointed that only £21,000 has been received from the Government to support over 100 families throughout Dudley whose lives were devastated by the summer floods. "It's too little, too late" says Geoff.

Conservative
Councillors welcome
the proposed improvements to Wordsley Library.

With a building and refurbishment programme giving residents a larger facility with longer opening hours, improvements that residents have been asking for over many years.

Following years of Labour inaction, your Conservative Council is making a difference in Wordsley!
